SPECIAL WORKSHOP

RONALD BREMER will be the guest speaker for this workshop, which will be held at the WERNER MEMORIAL CENTER located 2617 Corbitt between Hearne Avenue and Mansfield Road, Shreveport, La. November 12th, 1983.

Registration is $5.00, and we are not requesting pre-registration, but you may if you so desire.

Registration begins at 8 A.M., lectures begin at 9 A.M. and will continue until 4 P.M. Mr. Bremer welcomes questions during his lectures. One of his topics will be "PENNSYLVANIA TO POINTS WEST, PRE AND POST REVOLUTIONARY WAR ERAS.

Mr. Bremer has more than 20 years experience as a genealogist, and is a former Research Specialist for the GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY OF SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. He attended Brigham Young University, and in 1961, attended the Eleventh Annual Genealogical Institute sponsored by the National Archives and American University in Washington, D.C. He was a participant in the special Genealogical Symposium sponsored by the Federal Records Center and the New York Public Library, an exhibitor at the Bicentennial Seminar in Cleveland, Ohio in 1978, founder of the Federation of Genealogical Societies, co-author of THE COMPENDIUM OF AMERICAN HISTORICAL SOURCES, and contributor to numerous genealogical periodicals are among a few of his credits and achievements.

Mr. Bremer has personally visited the major genealogical record centers in every state, as well as in Washington, D.C. He is presently one of the most popular and sought-after speakers in the country. His lectures are most informative as well very entertaining.

Mr. Bremer's ability to answer questions from his audiences during the lecture, and probably the one characteristic above all others that makes him in such demand is his ability to speak without a microphone and still be heard by everyone. He is a modern Demosthenes and is in constant demand as a motivational speaker. He is also able to lecture with short breaks, for the entire day - a total of five hours of speaking.

Mr. Bremer gives you a choice of five topics from a total list of thirty-six; and we have asked him to speak on the above mentioned subject as well as LITTLE KNOWN SOURCES, SOLVING STONE-WALL PROBLEMS, AMERICAN CHURCH RECORDS, and MID ATLANTIC STATES RESEARCH.

Our custom for the past few years at our workshops has been to provide lunch for our guests, and as a result we have a very enjoyable time sharing our special dishes and our hospitality.

Circle November 12, 1983 on your calendar and join us for a day of learning new genealogical techniques and sources given in an unusually refreshing manner, as well as enjoying our luncheon.

SEE YOU SATURDAY - 12th NOVEMBER 1983 - WERNER MEMORIAL CENTER 2617 CORBITT STREET between Hearne Avenue and Mansfield Road.

THE GENIE - OCTOBER 1983

As I consider the different areas members of this organization live, I wonder if you are experiencing a different feeling in the air these last few days. I am aware that autumn is suddenly here. I gathered hickory nuts last Saturday, and I am sure the black walnuts will be ready in a week. Pecans are already falling, and the leaves, one by one, have dressed the trees in high color to celebrate the autumn season. Soon the crops will be harvested then winter will step in and take over.

It seems like yesterday new officers were being installed for the current year/s and planning sessions were being held to direct the activities for the Ark-La-Tex Genealogical Ass'n. for the coming year.

The year 1983 has been eventful with some very important long range projects contemplated. Some plans have not been completed yet, others are in the process of completion, and some are in embryo only, but progressing nicely.

The workshop in August was one of the best we have had, and if Barbara Dalby's plan were followed I am sure more of us would realize more success.

The Quarterly Exchange Program is really beneficial to patrons of the library, and I hope all members utilize this facility. We exchange with approximately 120 other genealogical organizations, placing their quarterlies in the Genealogy Dept. at Shreve Memorial Library.

The Book Review Program is also growing, and in the last three months we have reviewed many publications and they are also in the Genealogy Dept. at Shreve Memorial Library.

Even though we have accomplished many things, much time has passed without our having accomplished a thousand things we had intended - then summer is gone - and suddenly autumn is here.

My thanks to every person who is a member of this organization, and a special to those who do so much to make it the success it is.

Have a good Thanksgiving, and a very happy, joyful Christmas.

Jern

S.905, the bill to create an independent National Archives and Records Administration, was the subject of a hearing by the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee on 4 August.

The bill which would separate the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) from the General Services Administration (GSA), would also provide for the appointment of the Archivist of the U.S. by the President with advice and consent by the Senate for a ten year period. Now is the time for you to communicate your views on this important legislation to your senators. Please write them and let them know how important it is to have an independent department for the archives, ask them to support S. 905 when it comes to a vote on the Senate floor. All Senators should be addressed at the United States Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

AND SO THEY VOTED

At one time in Louisiana a person had to own property to be eligible to vote. As young men became of age they also became almost desperate to own land, but in some communities there was no land available for these young men to buy at a price they could afford. During these times they were forced to resort to unusual tactics to obtain the right to vote.

These were the same men, our forefathers, that helped to build this wonderful country of ours. The following land records show how this law of owning property before being allowed to vote was complied with at that time.

In the St. Landry index not all of these names will appear. Usually just the first name is placed in the index.

FROM THE Nash Co. North Carolina records

Petition of William T. ARRINGTON for a division of land. Lucy GRIFFIN died intestate, leaving four children, to wit: Sally EDWARDS, wife of John EDWARDS; Thomas GRIFFIN; James H. GRIFFIN; Henry GRIFFIN. Said ARRINGTON bought the shares of the last two mentioned heirs. May Term, 1856.

ACCOUNT BOOK: COLUMBIA COUNTY, ARKANSAS

This old and very well used ledger was started about June 12, 1872. Some of the most bought items were: Tobacco, sardines, candy, snuff, hichory sheeting, bitters, wig, candy, french harp, cedar pencil, fish hooks, bridle bet, domestic, bleaching, brg (brogan?) shoes, musket caps, suspenders, powder, buckshot, led pencil, nails, homespun, laudenam, coal oil, gingham, ribbon, colomel, curry comb, linsey, well bucket. [The unusual spelling was theirs--not mine.]

June 10, 1872: D. L. KING, J. R. LEWIS, James KING.

RUSK COUNTY TEXAS CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS

Rusk Co. stood first in providing more companies for the Civil War than any county in Texas. The Spanish-American War, World War I and World War II, the Korean and the Vietnam Wars took heavy tolls in lives and heartache among the people of Rusk Co.

It is certified that on the 29 of January 1861 the Milton M. Boggess Company was formed numbering 60 men from the county of Rusk, State of Texas.

It is related the war department of the Confederacy had little fear of war as a result of sucession and didn't think they would need help.

In less than 3 months, on April 6, 1861, the Milton M. Boggess Company, First Texas Volunteers was mustered into the service of the Southern Confederacy at Henderson.

Each trooper furnished his own mount and its equipment balued at $60 to $150 for the horse and bridle and saddle, but few were carrng arms.

Susanna BERRYHILL married Baxter SELF ca 1821 in Georgia; Catherine T. BERRYHILL married John SELF 9 Nov. 1820 Jasper Co., Ga. They either went with an earlier group to Oklahoma, or somewhere else, maybe Louisiana, because they were not on the removal rolls in 1832.

PIERRE DOLET'S LAND

Because of the difficulties of settling PRIVATE LAND CLAIMS many conflicts arose, which sometimes had to go to the U.S. Supreme Court for settlement. This resulted in large quantities of data being accumulated, much of which is of genealogical nature.

There are many instances of fraudulent handling of all types of land warrants and the one below is a prime example of data being accumulated, all of which is very pertinent to the researcher.

No. 23775.

SMITH v. ALBRITTON.

(Supreme Court of Louisiana. Feb. 26, 1923. On Application for Rehearing, April 2, 1923.)

(Syllabus by Editorial Staff.)

1. Public lands =59—Land covered by lake and bayou in 1832 presumed still swamp land in 1849 and 1850.

Where government survey made in 1832 showed land was largely covered by non-navigable lake and bayou, the presumption is that it was yet swamp land subject to overflow and unfit for cultivation at time of swamp land grants of 1849 and 1850.

2. Public lands =209—Conveyance to state under swamp land grants after time suit to establish Spanish grants would have conveyed good title.

Under Act Cong. May 26, 1824, and Act June 17, 1844, providing for confirmation of Spanish grants, where time allowed had elapsed without confirmation, patent to state under swamp land grants of 1849 and 1850 prior to Act Cong. June 22, 1860, would have conveyed a valid title.

3. Public lands =60—Swamp lands did not vest in state without selection, examination, listing, and approval.

Under the swamp land grants by Act Cong. March 2, 1849, and Act Cong. Sept. 28, 1850 (U. S. Comp. St. 4958-4960), title did not vest in the state by mere operation of the grants without selection by the state, and examination, listing, and approval by the Interior Department.

4. Public lands =211—Patent upon confirmation of Spanish grants under statutes passed before title conveyed under swamp land grants gave good title.

Where swamp lands were not conveyed to state under swamp land grants, Congress could give those claiming under a Spanish grant another chance to have their title confirmed, as was done by Act Cong. June 22, 1860, and Act June 10, 1872, and patent thereunder conveyed a valid title.

On Application for Rehearing.

5. Real actions =8(4)—Petitory Action; no damages recoverable when slander suit converted into petitory action.

Where suits for slander of title were converted into petitory actions by answers asserting title in defendant, damages could not be recovered.

Appeal from Twelfth Judicial District Court, Parish of De Soto; John H. Boone, Judge.

Four actions by C. W. Smith, Barney Y. Wemple, Florian Clauque, and the Frost-Johnson Lumber Company, against Alvin R. Albritton. From a judgment for plaintiff in each case, defendant appeals. Judgments in the first two actions amended and affirmed on rehearing, and judgments in the other two actions affirmed.

Cross & Moyse, of Baton Rouge, for appellant.
Lee & Bell, of Mansfield, for appellees.

O'NIELL, C. J. Two of these cases, Smith v. Albritton and Wemple v. Albritton, were originally actions for slander of the title of lands occupied by Smith and Wemple, respectively. The two other cases, Clauque v. Albritton and Frost-Johnson Lumber Co. v. Albritton, were brought to test the title to lands claimed by the plaintiffs, respectively, and the defendant, but not occupied or possessed by either party. Such suits are authorized by the Act 38 of 1908. In answer to the suits of Smith and Wemple, the defendant asserted title to the land, converting each suit into a petitory action. The four cases were consolidated and tried as one case, the issues in all of them being substantially alike. There was judgment recognizing the plaintiff to be the owner of the land, in each case, and the defendant, Albritton, has appealed.

(1) He holds a patent from the state, for the land in contest in each case, claiming that the state acquired title by virtue of the swamp land grant of March 2, 1849. The lands were never approved to the state, or certified or selected for approval, under the swamp land grant. A government survey, however, made in 1832, shows that the land was then, for the most part, covered by a nonnavigable lake and bayou; and the presumption is that it was yet swamp land, subject to overflow and unfit for cultivation, at the time of the swamp land grants of 1849 and 1850.

Each of the plaintiffs holds a title, through mesne conveyances, from the heirs of Pierre Dolet, claiming title under a Spanish grant made in 1796.

On the 7th of December 1795, Pierre Dolet petitioned the Spanish commandant, Don Bernardo Fernandez, for a grant of a square of land containing four (Spanish) leagues (4,428.4 acres each), with Dolet's residence marking the center of the square. He alleged in his petition that he had built his residence on the land, had occupied and cultivated it for many years, and had raised herds of horses and cattle there. Under orders from the commandant, the procurador de esta comun investigated the boundaries of the tract, made sure that Dolet's possession was exclusive, went through quite a ceremony in giving Dolet actual possession, and then made and placed on record a written report of all he had done. The report or proces verbal was approved by the commandant, who issued his certificate confirming the grant, on the 14th of January, 1796. See Am. State Papers, vol. 4, p. 51. The four leagues square, embracing the land now in contest, was in territory which, although it had been ceded to the United States, remained under the dominion of Spain until 1819. This then-called "Neutral Ground" was east of the Sabine river and west of the Arroyo Hondo, the Kisachey, and the Calcasieu. The Spanish grants that were made in that "No Man's Land" after the cession of Louisiana to the United States, and before this government got control, have been, as a rule, recognized and confirmed as valid grants. The claim of the heirs of Pierre Dolet was recommended for confirmation in a report of the commissioners dated January 31, 1825, pursuant to the Acts of Congress of March 3, 1823 (3 Stat. 756), and May 26, 1824 (4 Stat. 52). See American State Papers, vol. 4, p. 51. Pierre Dolet had died in 1822, and his widow, Marie Rose Dupre Dolet, died in 1836. The grant had not yet been confirmed. The Dolet heirs continued to urge their claim before the Congress, from time to time, for many years. In the meantime, the Congress had enacted the several relief statutes, particularly the Act of May 26, 1824 (4 Stat. at L. 52), the Act of June 17, 1844 (5 Stat. at L. 676), extending or renewing the provisions of the act of 1824, the Act of June 22, 1860

the direction of the Surveyor General by experienced and faithful deputies, and a list of the lands shall be made out and certified by the deputies and the surveyor general to the Secretary of the Interior, who shall approve the same, "so far as they are not claimed or held by individuals; and on that approval, the fee simple to said lands shall vest in the said state of Louisiana, subject to the disposal of the Legislature thereof."

It is plain, therefore, that the fee simple to the swamp lands of the United States did not vest in the state of Louisiana by mere operation of the swamp land grants, without a selection by the state, and an examination, listing and approval by the Interior Department. The swamp land grants have been declared grants in praesenti, only in this sense, that the subsequent selection, listing and approval of the lands to the state has the retroactive effect of conveying title as of the date of the statute.

We quote from Rogers Locomotive & Machine Works v. American Emigrant Co., 164 U. S. 570, 17 Sup. Ct. 191, 41 L. Ed. 557, using italics and quotations as they are in the text, viz.:

"But it is equally true that the act of 1850 made it the duty of the Secretary of the Interior, as soon as practicable after the passage of the act, to make out an accurate list and plats of the swamp and overflowed lands granted to any state, and, at the request of said Governor, cause a patent to be issued to the state therefor; and on that patent, the fee simple to said lands shall vest in said state,' subject to the disposal of its legislature. While, therefore, as held in many cases, the act of 1850 was in praesenti, and gave an inchoate title, the lands needed to be identified as lands that passed under the act; which being done, and not before, the title became perfect as of the date of the granting act. Wright v. Roseberry, 121 U. S. 488, 494 (30:1039, 1040) et seq.; Tubbs v. Wilhoit, 138 U. S. 134, 137 (34:887, 888); Chandler v. Calumet & H. Min. Co., 149 U. S. 79, 91 (37:657, 661). So, in Ehrhardt v. Hogaboom, 115 U. S. 67, 68 (29:346): 'In French v. Flynn, 93 U. S. 169 (23:812), this court decided that, by the second section of the swamp land act, the power and the duty devolved upon the Secretary of the Interior, as the head of the department which administered the affairs of the public lands, of determining what lands were of the description granted by that act, and made his office the tribunal whose decision on that subject was to be controlling.' The identification of lands as lands embraced by the swamp land act was therefore necessary before the state could claim a patent or exercise absolute control of them."

That decision was quoted at length and with approval in Little v. Williams, 231 U. S. 339, 34 Sup. Ct. 70, 58 L. Ed. 259; where, after repeating the necessity for the identification, listing and approval of the swamp lands by the Interior Department, it was said, of the land then in contest:

"As this land was never so identified, and, so far as appears, its identification was never even requested by the State, it follows that, even if at the date of the act the land was in fact swamp or overflowed, the state never acquired more than an inchoate title to it, a claim which was imperfect both at law and in equity."

The most pertinent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on this subject was rendered in the case of Public Schools v. Walker, 9 Wall. 282, 19 L. Ed. 576; which we quoted at length in State v. Bowie Lumber Co., 148 La. 598, 87 South. 308. We quote now from the opinion in the latter case, viz.:

"Counsel for plaintiff contend that Gov. Roman's failure to present his claim to the register and receiver of the land office for registry and approval within two years after the passage of the act of Congress approved February 6, 1835 (4 Stat.

749), was an abandonment or forfeiture of his claim. We do not think so. A situation somewhat similar was presented in the case of Public Schools v. Walker, 9 Wall. 282, 19 L. Ed. 576. In that case there had been reserved to certain towns and villages in the state of Missouri by the act of Congress of June 13, 1812 (2 Stat. 748), certain lands 'then not rightfully owned or claimed by any private individual.' The school board sued for a tract of land occupied by the defendant, claiming title from Joseph Brazeau, who had claimed the land prior to the passage of the act of 1812. Brazeau had made application to the commissioners for confirmation of his title, but it had been rejected. Another commission was organized in 1832, which reported favorably on Brazeau's claim, and Congress, by act approved July 4, 1836, confirmed the claim. It was contended on behalf of the school board that Brazeau should have sued for confirmation of his claim under the act of 1824. In answer to the argument, the Supreme Court conceded that Brazeau had no claim that could be legally asserted between the time of the passage of the act of 1824 and the time of the passage of the act of 1832 organizing the new board of commissioners. But the court held that Brazeau's failure to avail himself of the provisions of the act of 1824 was not a denial that the land 'was rightfully claimed' by him. We quote from 76 U. S. (9 Wall.) 288, 19 L. Ed. 576, viz.:

"We must inquire whether the fact that Brazeau had failed to assert his claim within the time limited by Congress proved that his claim was not rightful. For, as a board of commissioners has said that it was rightful, and as Congress has also said it was, this proposition can only be refuted by holding that his failure to assert it for a time, and the declaration of Congress that he could not be heard to assert it afterwards, proved that it was not rightful.

"We do not think it had this effect. If it be treated as a statute of limitation, it is not the doctrine on which such statutes are founded that lapse of time proves the wrongfulness of the claim. They are made for the repose of society and the protection of those who may in that time have lost their means of defense. It is a mere declaration of the lawmaking power to the plaintiff that, having voluntarily slept so long upon his rights, he shall not now be permitted to assert them, to the injury of individuals and the disturbance of society.

"In the class of cases before us the act was nothing more than the declaration of the sovereign power, who at the same time held the fee of the land, that if you establish your equitable claim to the land, within a certain time, I will confer the title; if you do not, I will not afterwards hear you assert it. But it was competent for the sovereign, after this forfeiture had occurred by laches, to release it, to consent to hear the claimant, and to give him another chance to prove the rightfulness of his claim. And this is what Congress did by the act of 1832."

(4) Our conclusion is that the lands embraced in the Pierre Dolet grant remained under the control of the Land Department of the government of the United States after the enactment of the swamp land grants, and that the rights which the state acquired by virtue of those grants did not interfere with the right of the Congress to give to the heirs of Pierre Dolet another chance to have their title confirmed, as was done by the Act of June 22, 1860, and again by the Act of June 10, 1872.

With regard to appellant's patent for the land that was occupied and cultivated by the plaintiff Smith, and for that which was occupied and cultivated by Wemple, the case is plainly within the ruling made in Albritton v. Shaw, 148 La. 427, 87 South. 32. The patents, held by Albritton in the two cases, were issued in 1917 and 1920, respectively, in violation of the Act 21 of 1886, and without compliance with any of the requirements of the Act 215 of 1908. We rest our decision of these four cases, however, upon the conclusion which is common to all of them and decisive of all of them; that is, that the patent that was issued to the heirs of Pierre

Dolet, of date the 25th of February, 1884, conveyed a valid title.
The judgments appealed from are affirmed, at appellant's cost.

On Application for Rehearing

Per Curiam: (5) Appellant has called our attention to the fact that, in each of the suits for slander of title, that is, in Smith v. Albritton and in Wemple v. Albritton, the district court gave judgment for $250.00 damages. Damages are not allowed in such cases when the defendant has converted his suit into a petitory action.

The judgment in each suit for slander of title, that is, in Smith v. Albritton and Wemple v. Albritton, is amended by rejection of the allowance of $250.00 damages, and as amended, the judgments in these cases are affirmed. The plaintiffs, Smith & Wemple, are to pay the costs of this appeal, and the application for a rehearing is denied.

OLD PIONEER CEMETERY

HISTORICAL SITE

TALIMENA SCENIC DRIVE - MENA, ARKANSAS

RECORDED BY CLYDE & FRANCES HARP ESPECIALLY FOR THE GENIE.

This historic cemetery is the final resting place for twenty-three of the original mountaintop settlers and their descendants who migrated to this area in the mid 1800's.

Just a short ways down the side of the mountain from the historical marker is the cemetery with another marker which reads:

Of 23 graves, only one of them is now identified by a legible stone. Over the years weathering has caused the names and dates carved on the sandstones to disappear. One of the first persons to be buried here was a little girl whose family lay ill and helpless in a cabin during a bitter cold spell. The child was gathering firewood outside when she had to take refuge in a tree from wolves. The next morning her frozen body was found in the forks of the tree near where she was buried. The last person to be buried here was Bill Hefley, the last settler who lived on the mountain. He left his homestead in 1949 after becoming ill, and died in Oklahoma in 1952. At his request he was buried in the old cemetery.

Spartanburg, S.C. 29304

Cost: $15.00 hardcover

This compilation of marriage and death notices from seven Asheville, North Carolina newspapers is particularly valuable since virtually all of Buncombe County records were destroyed in courthouse fires in 1830, 1835 and 1865. It is especially valuable to researchers working the piedmont and western North Carolina, southwestern Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina and Georgia. It is more than an index; it abstracts much information of interest for each entry. The entries are arranged alphabetically in two sections, one each for marriages and deaths. Contains 432 marriages and 1,181 deaths.

To the Hon. Judge of 2nd Judicial District, La., holding sessions of court in & for Bossier Parish, or the the Hon. Clerk thereof:

The petition of George B. Garrett, a resident of Bossier Parish, La., with respect represents that his is the duly and legally appointed & qualified tutor to the minor children of Thomas J. Garrett & his wife, Polly Ann Dunn, both deceased, and as such tutor administering their succession petitioner avers that said successions are insolvent & that the whole property of said successions, real & personal, will have to be sold in order to pay off and settle the debts owed by said successions.

Petitioner would most respectfully refer to the inventory of said successions for a full minute & particular description of the property & its value belonging to said successions. He herewith files & makes part hereof a statement of the Debts due by said successions & makes same exhibit "A".

Wherefore, (?) considered petitioner prays for an order of sale, authorizing & ordering the sale of all the property, both real & personal, belonging to said successions. Successions described in the inventory taken before & by J. H. Cabeen, Dy Clk & ex officio By Recorder & Notary Public, Bossier Parish, La., on 11th Febry A. D. L886 & now of file in Clerks's office of this Hon. Court. He further prays that said property be sold for cost to pay debts; that a commission issue to the Sheriff & ex officio auctioneer of Bossier Parish to sell, after the legal delays & advertisements that the value of the property as set out in said inventory serve as a basis for making said sale; in event that any of the property shall not bring two-thirds (2/3) of the appraisement, that the same be re-advertised on a credit of twelve months for whatever it will bring & according to law. Finally, petitioner prays for all other orders necessary for general relief.

Snider & Smith, Attys for petitioner.

To the Hon. Judge of the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Louisiana, holding sessions in and for Bossier Parish:

The petition of George B. Garrett, tutor of the minor heirs of Thomas J. Garrett & Polly Ann Dunn, his wife, both deceased, & ex officio administrator of their successions, with respect herewith presents his First Annual Account in said tutorship, & his Final Account with Mary A. Garrett, one of said minors who has been emancipated by marriage with Thomas J. Morgan, since petitioner's appointment as her tutor. He shows that said successions are & were insolvent, there being nothing for the creditors of said decedents, as the minors' claim under Act of 1852, page 171, entitled "An Act to provide homestead to widow and children of deceased persons", is prior & has preference over the creditors of said decedents.

He shows that since the marriage & emancipation of said Mary A. Garrett, he has paid her, in full, her share of the bounty to which she was entitled under the law referred to, and that he should be, by judgment of this court, fully released from further responsibility so far as she is concerned in this matter, and that the legal mortgage now existing against him as her tutor should be cancelled & annulled.

He shows that in the process verbal of sale there is an error of three & 30/100 ($3.35) in the purchases of petitioner & of six & 24/100 dollars (6.24/100) in the purchases of W. A. Stroud making nine & 64/100 ($9.64), which corrected he makes in the annexed account.

Wherefore, he prays that due notice of the filing of this his annual account be given J. B. Crawford, under tutor, as the law directs; and that after having (?) his said account & his final account with said Mary A. Garrett be duly approved, homologated & made the judgement of the court, and that the legal mortgage now existing against him as tutor be cancelled & annulled, so far as the full share of the said Mary A. Garrett is concerned; prays for all other orders & decrees necessary, for general relief, etc.

I dremt death came the other night,
and heaven's gate swung wide;
An angel with a halo bright ushered me inside -
And there to my astonishment
Stood folks I'd judged and labeled;
As quite unfit, of little worth and spiritually disabled.
Indignant words rose to my lips,
But never were set free,
For every face showed stunned surprise
For no one expected me.
