THE GENIE is published quarterly. Each member receives four issues for each year of membership. All material published in THE GENIE is compiled and contributed by the members. THE GENIE exchanges periodicals with other genealogical-historical organizations publishing data of general interest. We regret that we cannot exchange with limited family organizations, but invite them to send samples of their publications for brief review, since many of these family organizations are of great value in information on the family covered by them.

"TROUBLE ON RED RIVER" - THE BOSSIER RIOTS

by Dale Jennings

Available contemporary accounts of the "riots," which occurred in September and October of 1868, are as divergent as their sources. The 1869 joint committee report of the Republican controlled state legislature, and its freedmen witnesses, contradict news reports of the Bossier Banner and Shreveport The South-Western. It is difficult to believe that no other independent account has survived when considered that so many had personal knowledge of those events. Included are my wife Larri Jennings' Brownlees, Arnolds and Vances, who were participants, or were said to have been. The two sites where the violence erupted are identified now only by the "Vanceville Rd" and "Brownlee Rd" road signs which mark the junctions of those roadways with Benton Road. The little community centers at those sites--Shady Grove (later renamed Vanceville) and Brownlee--did not then exist as such, and are now long gone. Shady Grove, in northwest Louisiana's Bossier Parish (county), evolved around the plantation store on the Shady Grove Plantation. The plantation would be purchased by neighboring planter and physician, Dr. Samuel W. "Whitfield" Vance, a few months after the riots. Brownlee was named for the Brownlee family and plantation, just down river.

Change was slow to come after the Civil War on the big cotton plantations along the east side of Red River above Shreveport. The production of cotton was labor intensive, and the interdependence between planters and ex-slave tenant workers resulted in restraint by both -- maintaining civil order, while keeping the old plantation system there pretty much unchanged. The demographics on the wide flood plain, which provided the bounty of the central Bossier Parish river plantations, is illustrated by the 1870 population census. Of the 97 family households along the river from Thomas Gilmer's place north to Captain W. J. Carter's, 90 were black and 7 white. The total population of all households was 468 of which 24 were white and 444 black or mulatto. This is not surprising as most of the 8,000 slaves in the 1860 Bossier Parish slave schedules (by exact count) were to be found along the river. (For perspective, see the 1868 map of the Red River waterway.)

By 1868 the Radical Republicans had gained control in the U.S. congress, disenfranchising great numbers of ex-Confederates, and placing the Southern states under military occupation until deemed sufficiently "reconstructed." The state and local elections in the spring of 1868 saw mixed success for white Democrats against Republican candidates in Bossier; but, the hated new state constitution was ratified by the voters. The Bossier Banner was especially aggravated that two white men in the parish had voted for the "scalawag constitution." The paper probably reflected the general sentiment of the white populace in wanting to learn the identities of "the two greatest skunks in Bossier." That broad strip of Red River alluvial plain in central Bossier Parish, with its large plantations and disproportionately heavy black population, did not escape the political friction and racial undercurrent incident to the approach of the November presidential election. An incident taking place in late September precipitated what became known as the "Bossier" or "Shady Grove riots." The scene was the Shady Grove Plantation, one of the old George Gilmer plantations, only recently acquired by the Shreveport plantation outfitting firm of Walsh & Boisseau.

On October 3, the Bossier Banner reported, under the headline, "Trouble on Red River," that on or about September 28, a robbery had been committed in the parish on Red River above Shreveport. This by several Negro freedmen against a citizen of Columbia County, Arkansas; and that a considerable body of white men from that county subsequently came down to investigate the matter and to arrest the guilty parties. Also, that Messrs. James Brownlee and Beverly Ogden, who apparently had been instrumental in releasing the Arkansas man, were themselves arrested by undoubtedly the same band of freedmen; then shot in cold blood. Ogden was said to have died within hours while Brownlee, by last account, lingered still, with little hope. It was reported that runners sent out through the area and to Shreveport returned with many citizens and the military, to find some 300 Negroes banded together. The paper went on to say that, "Skirmishing took place between advanced parties resulting in the killing of several freedmen. But when the main body of the U. S. military arrived in sight, the large band of Negroes dispersed, and have not been since found. The laborers of Griswold's plantation, the Shady Grove and Gold Point places, and M. Baer's place, have deserted their homes, and are supposed therefore to be the rioting party. We learn that the U. S. troops will camp at Benton until the troubles cease, which perhaps has already happened. We hope to be able to give full particulars in our next, and would be thankful to any one to set us right on any point wherein we may be mistaken." The weekly Bossier Banner never again reported on the matter.

The South-Western's October 7th coverage of events reads, in part: "Last Saturday week three gentlemen, from Arkansas, left this city for their homes with their wagons and teams. When near Shady Grove plantation that night, one of the white men had some conversation with some of the negroes of the place about the purchase of corn and fodder, which ended in harsh language and the firing off of a pistol. It is not known who fired the pistol, but nobody was injured. During the night the negroes gathered to the number of two hundred, armed with guns and pistols, and made an attack on the three whites. One of them, whom they accused of firing off the pistol, was taken from the wagon and chained by the neck to a tree.It was with the utmost difficulty that three or four white men, well known to the negroes, succeeded in appeasing them and procuring the release of the white man.Matters rested then in a quasi state until daylight Wednesday morning, when the Shady Grove place was surrounded by a party of thirty men from Arkansas, headed by the celebrated Cullen Baker, who demanded the negroes who commenced the disturbance on Sunday. A short fight ensued which resulted in the killing of a negro and the mortally wounding of three. Baker and his party then moved off, taking with them five negro men, which they afterwards hung or shot. This roused the whole negro population, and they commenced gathering along the road above Mr. Baer's plantation, near Mr. Saggus'. Two young men, Mr. Brownlee and Mr. Ogden, who had just crossed the river in a skiff from a cattle hunting expedition, were surrounded by them and disarmed. After a short parley they were turned loose, but they had proceeded but a short distance before they were fired upon and mortally wounded, both of whom having since died. This capped the climax, and information coming to this city of the state of affairs, volunteers, composed of our best citizens, started for the scene of action.At the earnest solicitation of a number of our leading citizens the scalawag Deputy United States Marshal made a requisition on the military for assistance. In the meantime the first party of volunteers had come up with the negroes at Smedley's, and assured them that they would not be hurt if they gave up their arms and retired peaceably. They were answered by a volley, which did not injure any one, though some of them had a narrow escape. About twenty five shots were fired when the negroes made a hasty retreat, and on the arrival of the troops not a negro could be found anywhere in the vicinity. The Arkansas delegation hearing of the shooting of Brownlee and Ogden, at once commenced an indiscriminate slaughter of the negroes wherever they could be found, no matter whether guilty or innocent. It is not exactly known how many they killed, but it is thought in the neighborhood of twenty. A gentleman who lives in the neighborhood informs us that he knows of fifteen negroes and two white men killed. The action of the Arkansas delegation has been much condemned by citizens, soldiers and the civil authorities in killing innocent negroes, who were promised protection by the citizens if they would stay and work. The military, under charge of the sheriff, tried to come up with Baker and his crowd, but at last accounts had not succeeded. At last accounts everything was quiet at the late scene of action along the river plantations, but not a negro was to be seen. They had evidently taken to the woods, where they will remain until they get over their scare."

(Eighteen-year-old James Cowen Brownlee was the brother of Larri Jennings' great grandmother, Lou Brownlee (later Mrs. John M. Arnold). Mr. J. M. Saggus was their step-father. Beverly J. Ogden was a member of another prominent Bossier Parish family. The South-Western announced in the same October 7 edition that Beverly Ogden died on Thursday, October 1st. Brownlee family genealogy gives James' death as October 1st also. The South-Western had earlier made reference to "Collen" Baker in connection with the "Cypress Swamp incident.")

The legislative committee, in investigating "the conduct of the late elections and the condition of peace and order in the state," found fertile ground in Bossier Parish. A hand written excerpt of its report, to include the testimony of its two witnesses, can be found in the John Manry Collection, LSU-S Archives. Inconsistencies in dates, i.e., "7's" apparently for "1's," and vice versa, probably resulted from errors in copying or in transcribing interview notes, and "13th" for "30th" was probably a misunderstanding between interviewer and witness. The report makes no mention of the "Arkansas delegation" or the killing of Brownlee and Ogden; but, gives full credence to its witnesses, both of whom had fled to New Orleans, the state capitol. One witness was present at Shady Grove. His testimony, in part, follows.

"Henry Taylor states on oath, that he is a citizen and duly registered voter in N.O., La., and that on the 29th day of Sept., 1868, while he was at Shady Grove, Bossier Parish, he saw a colored man on a gally (sic); a strange white man approached and remarked to the colored man that he was a d---d radical. The colored man replied that he was a radical, when the white man drew a pistol and fired at him. He fell, but was not hurt. The white man then got in his wagon and covered himself up, but the colored men hearing the shot fired, ran from their quarters to the wagon and taking the white man out chained him and kept him as a prisoner, intending to take him to Bellevue and turn him over to the civil authorities. Captain Curtis, and other citizens of Bossier Parish, clubbed together that night and unchained him. He then went off, and brought back with him from 90 to 100 men, armed with revolvers, shot guns and rifles. When they arrived at the Shady Grove plantation, they commenced firing at the colored people, killing 8 men and 2 women. The women were killed while pleading for their husbands. After this they took 7 men to the Springs, six of them were killed, and one of them was shot and left for dead, but was able to return to the plantation. These white men learning that they had not killed all the men they took from the plantation, returned and killed the wounded man and his wife. They also saw some carpenters at work making coffins for the dead, whom they killed with the tools in their hands while at their work. The killed at Shady Grove plantation amounted to 18 men and 3 women. This armed band of white men took all the arms on the place. The colored men did not use any weapons or bad language. At Gum Springs, these men met a colored man, whom they ordered to take his hat off, which he refused to do, when they put a chain around his neck, cut his throat and hung him up to a tree.This band of white men went to the preachers' houses and brought them by force, and beat them with their guns, and made them swear never to spread the Gospel again. These white men who committed the murder were composed of citizens of Bossier Parish, and many of them leading planters. On the 7th of Oct. some 50 planters, well armed and mounted, went to Benton, La., and held a meeting. They started in squads to different plantations, killing men and women--20 colored men were killed that night. While the colored men were picking cotton in the fields they were shot down, without knowing who killed them or for what they were killed. The colored women ran away from Shady Grove plantation with their children, leaving everything. When witness returned to said plantation he saw about 25 white men there, some in the cabins and others standing about with their guns in their hands, and heard them say that they intended to kill every man, woman and child on the Dixon plantation (18 miles from Shreveport, La.) near Carolina Bluff. The remaining colored men who were on the plantation left for fear of losing their lives. Witness then left with his wife."

("Captain Curtis" may have been Captain W. J. Carter. The Gum Springs were located on the Dicksons' Gum Springs Plantation above Benton. The planters most probably would have met on the 1st of October, immediately after the killing of Brownlee and Ogden. It is unclear, and may have been a misunderstanding, as to what misdeeds the witness attributed to the band of armed white men (the Arkansas delegation?) and which to the Bossier planters.)

The testimony of the committee's other witness expressed through his interviewer follows, by quote and in substance.

"Isaac Young, a resident and duly registered voter of Bossier P., states on oath, that he was a laborer on Dr. Vance's plantation; that on or about the 13th of Sept., 1868, about at daylight in the morning, a party of white men, among whom were John Vance, Thomas Vance, Calvin Vance, Whitfield Vance, Captain Carter, James Brownlee, _____ Ogden, William Haynes, Griffin Cheatham, Marsh Griffin, John Arnold, Bob Stinson, William Agent, Joe Graham, Tom Marks, Bill Marks, Andrew Marks, George McAuley, and James McAuley, all residents of Bossier, came to Dr. Vance's plantation and took from there the following named colored men: Simon Crawford, Alex Arnold, Jeff Williams, Steve Vance, and 2 others named Steve and Bob. These latter they took to Benton and killed, and the rest they killed at Gum Springs, a few miles above." Mr. Young told the interviewer that he had fled from Dr. Vance's plantation that morning to avoid being taken with the others, and then returned and hid under the house. While thus concealed, he said he saw John Vance and Jim Saunders fatally shoot one Chambers when Chambers refused to go with them to Benton. Young testified that on Friday, October 2nd, Fred Kinney came to him and said that he had been released by the white men for the purpose of betraying Young into their hands. He stated to Young that Doctor Vance had ordered the man Bob killed; saying that he was too much of a radical for him. And, that he was then killed by a large Bowie knife being put on his shoulder and driven down into his heart; whereupon, the colored men were made to kneel down about the deceased and look him in the eyes. Kinney also stated to the witness that before reaching Benton, the party met two black women on horseback, and hanged them from a tree with lariat ropes. "For two weeks after these events, witness was pursued and searched for by these white men, but succeeded in eluding them, and, believing that his life was not safe in the parish he came to N.O. These white people had a spite against witness, as he was a Republican and had assisted the Republican Party. The name of witness was mentioned among others as the object of revenge, etc."

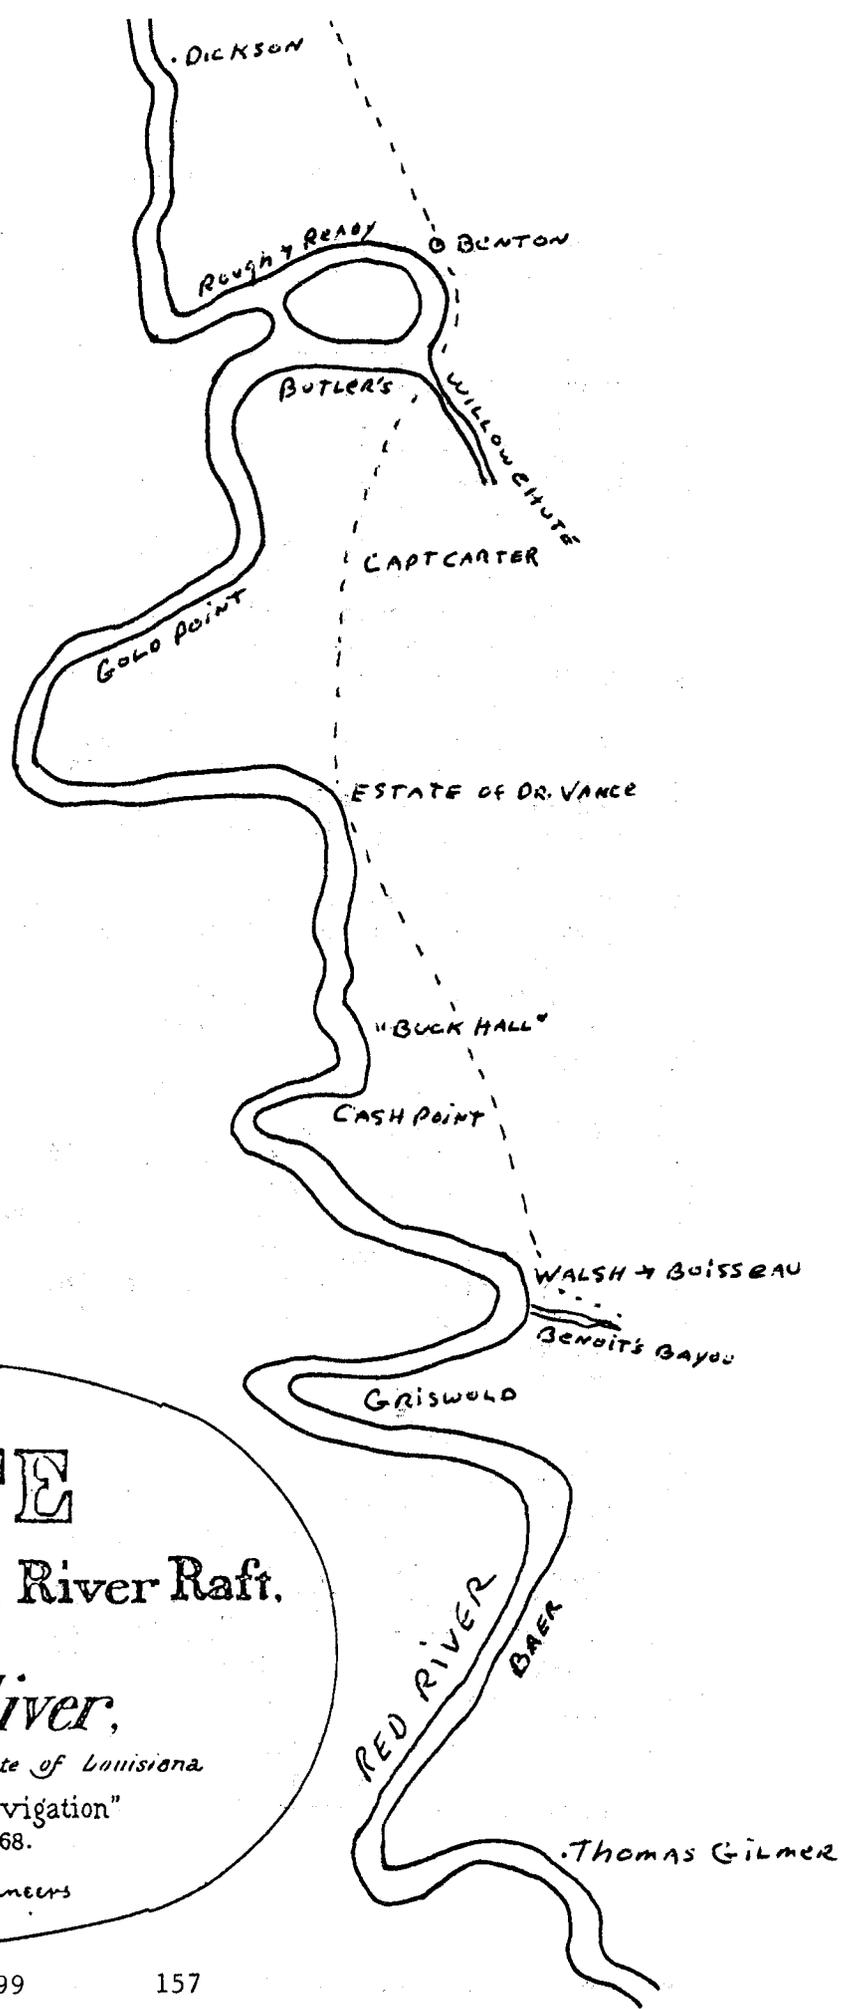

(References to Dr. Vance's plantation are assumed to be to Dr. Whitfield Vance's Buckhall Plantation, rather than to the nearby Riverside Plantation of his uncle, Dr. James Washington Vance. Doctor "Wash" Vance died on October 26, 1868. Note that on the 1868 map his property is annotated, "Estate of Dr. Vance." Readers are left to their own conjecture as to whether or not Brownlee and Ogden would have been among the riders identified by the witness. "James Brownlee" could have been an uncle, James Harvey Brownlee. Not much is known about James Harvey who went to Texas before the Civil War; but, a "J. H. Brownlee" of Waller's Texas Cavalry was paroled in Shreveport on June 17, 1865, and was listed as a resident of Caddo Parish, Louisiana. Also, George L. Woodward, an old member of Caddo Parish's Shreveport Greys, compiled a roster of his company which included "J. H. Brownlee.")

The text of the state legislative committee's report was primarily a reiteration and condemnation of events described by the witnesses. However, its findings reveal the scope and nature of what is characterized as a massacre. The report concluded that its origin was the 27 September incident at Shady Grove, involving "a strange white man." Also, that the massacre lasted for 3 or 4 days, during which time a total of 162 were killed. The committee apparently had access to the U.S. Marshal's report, in reporting that as the rage for blood intensified, "A U.S. Marshal came with some troops from Shreveport, and begged for them to desist, offering to arrest all Colored men against whom there might be charges and turn them over to the parish authorities; but, in the words of this officer, 'the white citizens of Bossier seemed determined to hunt the Colored people in the swamps themselves,' and as the officer 'well knew that they would shoot every Colored man they found with arms.'" The committee ended this segment of their report with the comment: "At the ensuing election the parish of Bossier gave 1 vote for Grant and Colfax out of nearly 2,000 registered Republican voters. Their work was well done."

Although brief articles have appeared on the subject of the "riots," to my knowledge -- with only one exception -- no other good information independent of the aforementioned sources has surfaced. The 1890 Biographical and Historical Memoirs of Northwest Louisiana does name the Columbia County, Arkansas, man as "Gibson," but otherwise betrays its source by describing the initial Shady Grove incident as a robbery. The LSU-S Manry Collection contains relevant correspondence by Bossier Parish historian, Mr. John Ardis Manry. His December 18, 1928, letter was prompted by the recent death of the blind ex-Confederate cavalry officer, John M. Arnold (Mrs. "Gray" Stinson should be Mrs. "Grey" Stinson, formerly Mrs. Mary (Arnold) Vance). "I was sad when I read that Mr. John M. Arnold had died. Hardly a year ago I spent a pleasant Sunday afternoon with him at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Gray Stinson, several miles below Benton. Seated in rockers before a fireplace, I can see him now, telling about Bossier's own war (the Gibson war), and how it started" It's too bad Mr. Manry or the family did not preserve such conversations. At the time there would have been many others still living who knew of those events--and so it is....

AUGUST HANNEMAN(N)

"PAPA"

(Betty Kintzing, ALTGA Telephone Committee Chairwoman, shared this article on her family.)

As I sit writing a story that Papa told me when I was a small child, I remember Papa, my maternal Grandfather, as a kind and generous gentleman with many good qualities.

Papa was a tall man, 6'3", black curly hair, blue eyes, and he wore a size 13 shoe. His hands were almost twice the size of my hands now.

When Papa was 18 years of age, he, his mother, Wilhelmina, sister, Emily and brother, Frank, came to America from Germany. As I am 72 years of age, I can't recall the name of the city he is from. I'm trying to search for that information. His father, William Hanneman(n), a blacksmith had died in Germany. Papa was 18 years old and would soon be called into the German Army. Somehow he got a letter from Bismarck and as he and his family traveled across Germany to a point of embarkation, he would show his letter when stopped, and he was allowed to continue on his way.

Papa and his family group entered the United States through the Port of New York, which was Long Island in 1883. As they worked their way down to Galveston, Texas, Papa told me he worked breaking horses to earn money to travel on to Texas.

After they reached Galveston, he met and married a first-generation German lady, Johanna Henrietta Anderson (pronounced Andrayson). Her family arrived approximately in 1850. They had two children, Pauline (Lena) and John.

Papa and Hanna moved to Shreveport in 1900. Papa went back to move his dairy cattle up to Shreveport. 1900 was the year of the huge Galveston hurricane. Papa had backed a railroad car onto the island, but before he could load the cattle the hurricane struck.

His mother still lived in their house in Galveston, and Papa was unable to get her to leave the island before the hurricane struck. He was able to get her to climb into the attic and he had cut a hole in the roof and climbed down into a tree close by. His mother was very short and very obese and was afraid to get into the tree. Papa tried to hold onto her thru the roof opening, but when the wind and water came it washed the house away, all of the dairy cattle and unfortunately the force of the hurricane was so strong, he was unable to hold his mother and she slipped out with everything else.

When the water receded, his mother's body was found on the island. I have a book that lists her as a victim. She was buried in Galveston in Lake View Cemetery on 7 February 1901.

Papa returned to Shreveport and worked for the K.C.S. Railroad. I was blessed to have Papa for my grandfather. I did not know Hanna, my grandmother, as she passed away in 1914. Papa was very close to our family. Each Sunday he had dinner with us and always brought my sister, Eddie Rutheen and myself a small 5¢ bag of candy. He caught catfish on Cross Lake and brought them to Mama to cook.

I have many stories of this area, but time with you and space is limited. A B I G thank you, Papa, for being my grandfather, and a B I G thank you, co-members for reading my story.

Most Sincerely,

Betty Ann Green Kintzing

DIGGING YOUR ROOTS, A TO Z

Tracing family history is a fun and challenging task. Beginners can find expert help in the Genealogy Forum (GO ROOTS) and can get a great start by reading the file "Quick Tips for the New Family Researcher From A to Z" written by forum member and experienced genealogist Sandy Clunies. The following is an abbreviated version of Clunies' suggestions. You can download the complete text from the forum's Library 1, "General Information," as file QUICK TIP (8,815 bytes).

- A-Attend a genealogy class.
- B-Begin with what you know and work backward.
- C-Computerize your data collection.
- D-Don't fall for the trap "If it's printed, it must be true.
- E-Evaluate all conflicting evidence.
- F-Find others in the Genealogy Forum who are researching the same family lines.
- G-Guard against quick conclusions.
- H-Hava a general plan.
- I-Involve other family members.
- J-Just names, dates and numbers do not make a family history. Interview your oldest relative.
- K-Keep the first interview brief.
- L-Let everyone in the family know about your family history project.
- M-Make letter writing work for you. Write short, to-the-point letters to public agencies and historical societies for needed information
- N-New researchers should first check the Mormon Family History Library in Salt Lake City, UT, or a regional family history center.
- O-Often small city libraries offer unique resources.
- P-Public records are stored on film at National Archives branches in many U.S. locations.
- Q-Query family associations, libraries and other researchers with your questions.
- R-Records to research: cemetery, census, church, land, military, probate, tax, town, vitals, wills, and on and on.
- S-Sources to research: family records, interviews, primary records, public documents, published books-the list is endless.
- T-Think of your family-history project as a 1,000 piece jigsaw puzzle. Sort out the pieces, study them, and put them together to make a big picture.
- U-Understand that genealogy is wonderfully addicting.
- V-Value your family-history project as a significant contribution in your lifetime to future generations.
- W-When you become discouraged, back up and research another area.

X,Y,Z-X-pect surprises!

TO CALCULATE AGE FROM TOMBSTONE FORMULA 8870

When the age is given on a tombstone or in an obituary, use the Formula 8870 to determine the date of birth or death. Example:

$$\begin{array}{r} 18890506 = \text{Died May 6, 1889} \\ - 710709 = \text{Age of 71 years 7 months 9 days (on tombstone)} \\ \hline 18179797 \\ - 8870 = \text{Constant Formula} \\ \hline 18170927 = \text{Born September 27, 1817} \end{array}$$

1817th year, 9th month, 27th day

A large number of the population of Farmerville find employment in the Commercial Solvents Corporation located in Sterlington, Louisiana.

The Ora oil field just north of here brought increased wealth and population to Farmerville for several years, but most of the families connected with Shell Oil Company have moved on to other locations and there is very little activity in the oil field at present.

In hunting and fishing, Union Parish offers a variety of game. In the many streams are a variety of fresh-water fish. The Theo Terzia Game Reserve takes in 50,000 acres of land in Union Parish. The Union Parish Game Reserve, which offers the sportsman 12,000 acres of controlled hunting, is a major asset.

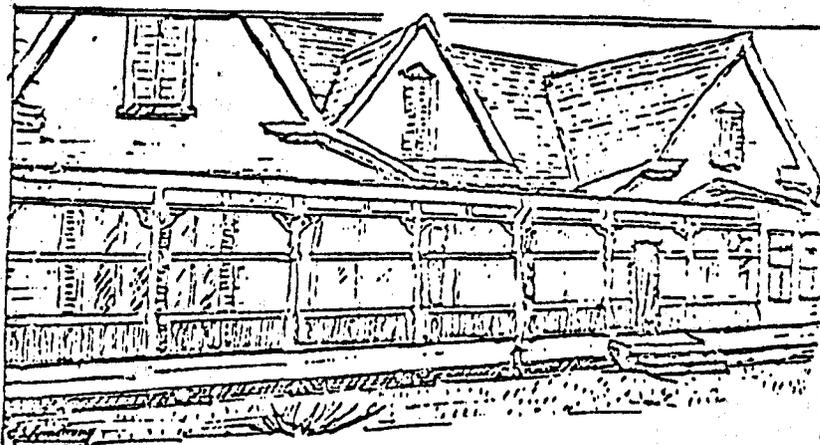

"FIRSTS" IN FARMERVILLE AND LATER PROGRESS

In order to appreciate the progress that the town of Farmerville has made in the one hundred twenty-five years of its existence, a few of the "firsts" will be given.

Our forefathers "Borrowed fire" in the early days. There was not a match in the whole world in 1839. They made fire by rubbing flints together rapidly, catching the sparks on a substance known as "punk". This would create a blaze and light-wood kindlings were quickly applied and so they would start a fire. The live coals would be covered at night in order to have fire the next day. If the coals died out or the punk gave out, one of the boys would have to dash off to a neighbor's house early in the morning to borrow a chunk.

During those primitive days in Union Parish there were not many things of any kind that were useful and comforting to mankind as we have today. There were not even steamboats at first, for the local waters were not yet navigable. There were no railroads, trains, no telegraphs, telephones, no sewing machines for all the sewing was done by hand. Cooking was done on the old-fashioned fireplace, with the pots, pans and skillets the only utensils and with the spit hanging from the chimney back. Oxen were often used for drawing wagons and carts. The corn was ground on an old-fashioned watermill.

Farmerville had the first telephone in the South below the Mason-Dixon line. The credit for bringing this distinction to Farmerville was to Colonel Daniel Stein, pioneer merchant of these parts.

A proud symbol of Farmerville's past is the O. Baughman home on Bayou Street. It was here that Col. Daniel Stein, pioneer merchant, who built the house, installed one of the first telephones in the South. While on a stock-buying trip to New York, he had seen the newly-invented telephone demonstrated, bought stock in the company and brought three of the instruments home with him.

The "Buck Horn" store, located at Stein's Bluff on Corney Bayou (Bernice Highway), was owned and operated by Daniel Stein in the 1870's. It was here that he installed one of the first telephones in the South.

The first automobile in Farmerville was purchased in 1922 for $1,050 by Dr. J. G. Taylor. The same day another citizen, Dr. R. L. Love, bought a car.

Farmerville and Enterprise had the first post offices to be established in the parish. Farmerville had mail service as early as May 2, 1840. James H. Sealy was the first postmaster. Farmerville now has a second-class post office, with Trellis Black the present postmaster. There have been four locations up through the present one.

The first traffic laws of the town were passed in January 1917. Ordinance No. 46 regulated the speed and parking rules governing the automobiles. There are traffic lights at all the busy intersections. On March 1, 1954, parking meters were installed on the main streets of Farmerville. Added revenue brought the town from these meters, from July 1958 to June 1959, amounted to $4,215, an average of $100 a week.

In 1922, ordinances were passed that authorized the letting of contract and franchise for a water system in Farmerville. On November 7, 1922, J. R. Littlepage was contracted to pipe water from Whiteman-Decker Mill, located on the Marion Highway, to the school and then on into town. This was the first water system the town had. Later a well was located in town for the water supply. Today, Farmerville has an adequate supply of water with a water tank located at either end of town, another serving the new sub-division near Lake D'Arbonne Dam, and a third under construction at present, an up-to-date fire department and a sewerage system.

A new franchise governing the electric light conditions was passed on February 21, 1923. The franchise was granted to Selig-Davis Power Company. At an earlier date, June 2, 1914, the town paid D. O. Ramsey and Paul Digby to put lights in town. They were allowed 40 watt bulbs for the street lights. Gas was put in town around 1927. Talph Harper first came to Farmerville at that time to help in the installation.

The Parish Health Unit was formed in 1936. It is operated by the State Board of Health with the Police Jury and the school board assisting. Dr. J. G. Norris was appointed as its first director and served until June 15, 1938, when he resigned to enter the private practice of medicine. A new building to house the health unit was erected in 1954. During the past years improvement has been made in sanitary conditions throughout the parish in both homes and schools.

Some of the doctors who are remembered back through the century are Doctors Burch, Dillard, Barnes, Jameson, Love, Evans, Taylor and Francis. Today Farmerville has two clinics in operation-Norris-Booth Clinic and Wadlington's Clinic. Until three years ago there was also the Farmerville Clinic and Hospital with Dr. J. T. Henry.

The first marriage license was issued July 24, 1839 to Cyrus Rounsvall and Mahaly Smith. Mr. Rounsvall signed his name to it but Miss Smith had to make her mark "X". The witnesses to this license were Columbas Dutton and Benjamin Sluyter.

A few of the early merchants and businesses were Carson and Baylis, Henry Brown, Carr Lee and Co., Stein, Marx Brothers, W. J. Turnage Sr., Gus Hartman and Sanders Variety Store. The stockholders for the Farmerville Mercantile Company, chartered in 1913, were M. J. Pearson, J. D. Baughman, W. J. Turnage, Sr., and J. W. Stansil. Farris Palace, owned and operated by Mrs. J. W. Farris, opened in February 1909.

Life was leisurely along North Main about 1900. Hartman's Store is in the foreground at left.

Since the history of Farmerville is almost a history of Union Parish as well, an unusual fact is that four governors of two states were natives of Union Parish. William Wright Heard, Governor of Louisiana, 1900-1904, and Ruffin G. Pleasant, Governor of Louisiana, 1916-1920, were both born in or near Shiloh and attended school at Farmerville.

George W. Donaghey, Governor of Arkansas, 1908-1912, was born near Oakland and Tom J. Terral, Governor of Arkansas, 1924-1926, was born at Holmesville.

The third Union Parish courthouse was constructed in 1904 and served this area until 1959, when it was demolished to be replaced by the present structure.

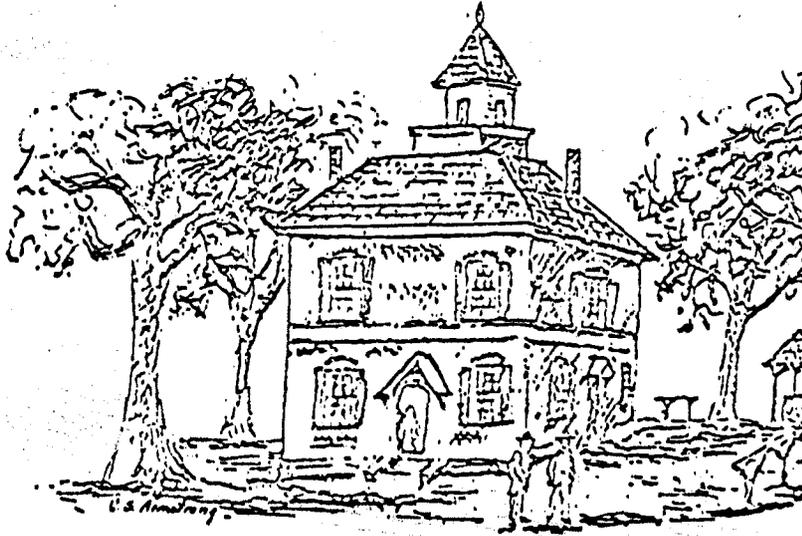

(Your editor begs forgiveness for this portion being out of sequence in this article.)

Crossing the ferry used to be an everyday activity for many in order to come to town. This scene is at Fork Ferry, where the Corney Bayou ran into the D'Arbonne.

The courthouse is described as being "36 feet by 28 feet, two stories with a third story in the attic under the cypress shingled 'square roof'. There were four foors, one on each side of the building, thirteen windows with 'Venetian Blinds' or shutters....a steeple which added a touch of dignity to the structure." The first floor was used for a courtroom and the other floors as offices.

As no picture was available, this is an artist's conception of the first parish courthouse, which was completed in 1842.

The parish was growing and the succeeding minutes of the police jury show that the progress never lagged. More attention was given to education, more roads, better organization of government as time went on.

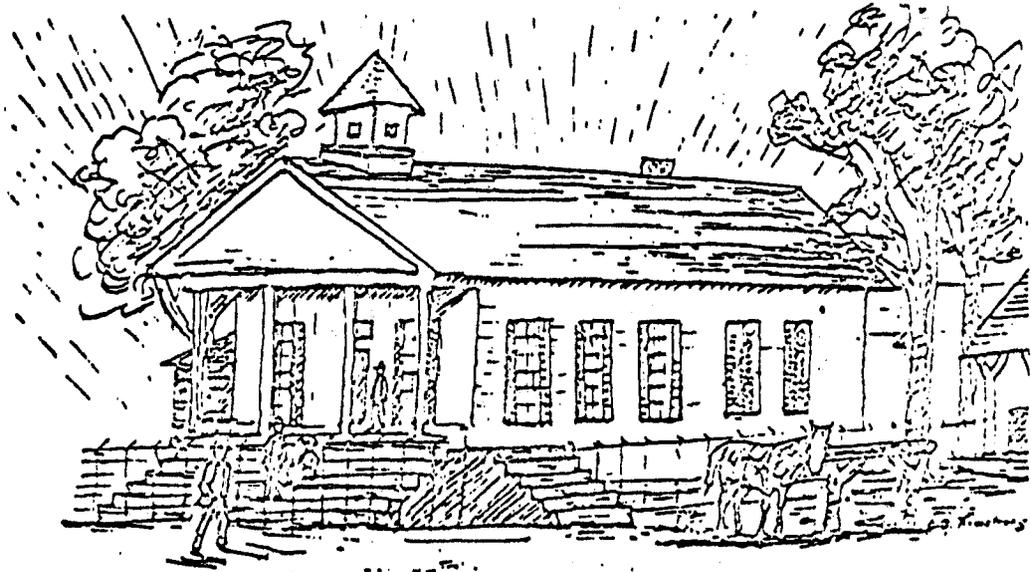

A month after the courthouse square was plotted in the center of the town, eighty-two lots were sold to citizens of the parish.

An ordinance passed September 27, 1841, appropriated one-half an acre of land to the parish seat as a burying ground. Additional land has been purchased since that time.

DEVELOPMENT OF FARMERVILLE

Although Farmerville was organized and plotted in 1839, it wasn't until the general assembly of 1842 that the town was granted a charter and incorporated. It operated under this charter with several amendments until the charter of 1870, under which the town operates today. The charter of 1842 was signed by Wm. C. C. Clairborne, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Felix Garcia, President of the Senate, and A. B. Roman, Governor of Louisiana. The charter of 1870 was signed by Mortimer Carr, Speaker of the House, Oscar J. Dunn, Lt. Governor and President of the Senate and approved March 16, 1870 by H. C. War-mouth, Governor of Louisiana.

With the continual creation of roads, Farmerville began to be settled. Men bought lots, built homes, opened stores and businesses. Farmerville began to emerge as a town.

The second Union Parish Courthouse, constructed in 1870 following closely after the ravages of the Civil War, was less pretentions than the first. It served this area until 1904.

The spring of 1883 marked the high point of Farmerville's mercantile importance. Then two events occurred which disrupted the pleasant situation. In March, fire destroyed Stein's Mercantile Store. A few weeks later a tornado toppled the remaining walls of the building down upon Glasson's saloon next door, completely demolishing the building and killing the owner, H. G. Glasson, besides injuring three other occupants.

STEAMBOAT DAYS

The completion of the railroad from Vicksburg to Ruston the same year spelled the doom of Farmerville as a shipping point. The region had been served by the steamboat all during the post war period.

This old Bible, once beautiful, but now well-worn by time, belonged to Sarah C. Maxwell, printed on 1st blank page in Bible "her born 1914". She lived in Mississippi, and when she died the Bible was given to the mother of Annette Williams, 1636 Holiday Pl., Bossier City, LA 71112. The title page of this Bible did not have the copyright or company that published it, but on further inspection, these items were found in very small print in a full page picture of Moses. Copyright 1896 by Harris Jones & Company. Many beautiful lithographs of animals & birds appear before the body of the Bible, and there is a concordance at the back. It measures $9\frac{1}{2}$ x $12\frac{1}{8}$ x $3\frac{1}{8}$ thick. Debossed cover. It was contained in a box, ($11\frac{1}{2}$ x $13\frac{7}{8}$), which had a faux ostrich cover and REAMS in gold on top. The inside of this cover had REAMS again and 156 months (see above) in gold. Could anyone give us more information on the 156 months or 13 years?

COST: $20.00 ppd. Order No. 3F631.

This small book gives a very detailed history of the people and establishment of Forsyth County, home of Winston Salem. This land had many owners as a result of a series of royal bequests, land patents and proprietorships. In 1753, the Moravians came from Germany via Pennsylvania and began to settle on a tract of land that became Wachovia. Other early settlements were Kernersville, Friedberg, Friedland and Hope. Eventually, townships were formed, civic groups convened, and a tract was chosen on which to build a county courthouse.

Leading citizens are named throughout this history, which also discusses the county militia, the Civil War and the formation of township lines. North Carolina's secession from the Union is covered, as well as Forsyth County's role in the Civil War. No battles were fought there, but it was a place of refuge and supply, and hundreds of Forsyth men joined the Confederate cause. Various Forsyth County regimental commanders of the war are named. There are maps illustrating the evolution of the county. Two court houses are also illustrated. The original subject index contains places, events and names. (1898) Reprint 1999, 8½ x 5½, 132 pp., maps, index, soft cover.

First published in 1932, this book was written to Commemorate the 100th Anniversary of the Organization of Smyth County, Virginia. It is, in the author's words, "an attempt to preserve some of its history and traditions and show in readable form the development of its life, industries, and institutions." This work begins in the 1700s, prior to the county's establishment, and records interesting incidents and major historic events on the day, as well as the names and character of many early settlers. There are also rare documents, such as Colonel John Buchanan's journal. William Campbell's letter to his wife, and the Tory warning to Campbell. The history then describes the first permanent settlement, and the tumultuous times of Dunmore's War and the American Revolution.

Genealogical data and family history are in the narrative. This is a complete and relatively modern history, which includes aerial photographs. Chapters include politics, churches, schools, newspapers, industries, banks, transportation, the Civil War, the First World War, towns, villages, communities, Benjamin Franklin Buchanan and Laurel Farm. 1932 Reprint 1998, 5.5 x 8.5, 397 pp, illustrated, original name index, plus a subject index, soft cover.

FROM THE SHORES OF BAYOU LA FOURCHE

By Merrill C. Williams
23750 Highland Valley Rd.,
Diamond Bar, CA 91765-1184

By the turn of the nineteenth century, the ever increasing Catholic Churches were THE CHURCH on the Gulf Coast and the lower Mississippi River lands. They became points of reference in legal land descriptions. The 1803 count was four of the churches, of the emerging Catholic Diocese of Baton Rouge, on the wrong (west) side of the river to be enumerated as part of the West Florida Territory and Republic. Baton Rouge's Saint Joseph and Saint Gabriel were the only churches established east of the river by 1793.

The Assumption Church at Plattenville was also built in 1793, "along the left shore of the Bayou LaFourche de Chitamachos." These landmarks determined plantation location descriptions in what was to become Assumption Parish. Believing that "above the church" was downstream along the bayou will, in 1810, place one of Augustin Dominguez's plantations on the road to the colonial homes of the Napoleonville area. Changing leagues into miles places the three arpents frontage one and one-half miles south of the church on Highway 308.

This was only one of the checkered land holdings, along the Bayou La Fourche, of the Dominguez Brothers that are shown with their families in the census of 1810 living in Assumption Parish. Much of their land was consolidated into Welchman Thomas Pugh's Madewood Plantation. The plantation house, built in 1846, has been restored and remains "The Queen of the Bayou."

The 1803-1819 Assumption Catholic Church records verify the Louisiana Census. It shows the brothers Francisco, Manuel and Augustin with the birth, baptism, death and marriage dates of their children in this period. A younger brother, Juan, had three children born in this period-after 1810. Also shown are the oldest members of the family. They are Antonio Dominguez (1757-1807) and Augustin Dominguez I (1759-1818). No verification is found in these church records to show a relationship of this Greater Family to Isabella Dominguez-Burnell. Although Pierra D. Dominguez I of Saint Gabriel Parish is of an age to be Isabella's uncle, the Assumption Church members were almost all of Spanish descent.

On page 374 of the Baton Rouge Diocese records of these years, some of the Grand Pre' family statistics are shown. However, there is no explanation of Don Carlos' full name translation as being "Charles Butcher of the Big Meadow." It does show his second son, the 1810 Commander of Fort San Carlos at Baton Rouge memorialized as DON Luis de Gran Pre. But there is no mention of his receiving the gold repeater watch that Don Carlos wanted him to have "and keep it as a jewel which was given to me by his highness, the deceased Infante, Don Luis..."
